DC Department of Health, Metropolitan Police Department & DC Water Encourage Residents to Drop-off Unwanted and Expired Medications at Local Take-Back Sites

The Drug Enforcement Administration Will Offer Local Collection Sites on September 27

(Washington, D.C.) – District of Columbia residents will have the option to safely dispose of household medications at drug take-back sites throughout the city. The upcoming “Take-Back” initiative, being held on Saturday, September 27 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m, is an effort to safely collect unused and expired medications and prevent improper drug disposal and distribution.

The Department of Health (DOH), Metropolitan Police Department (MPD) and the District of Columbia Water and Sewer Authority (WASA) are encouraging District residents to participate in this nation-wide effort. This program has served to reduce the risk to the community of a potential hazard to our drinking water and to community health. Last April more than 4,400 nationwide partners participated in this program that led to the removal of more than 390 tons (over 780,000 pounds) of prescription drugs at nearly 6,100 sites. When those results are combined with what was collected in its eight previous Take Back events, DEA and its partners have removed more than 4.1 million pounds of prescription drugs that could have otherwise been misused or ended up in our drinking water.

“This event provides District residents, the opportunity to safely remove prescription drugs from their home that have expired,” said Dr. Joxel Garcia, Director DOH. “These drugs have controlled substances that can fall into the hands of teenagers and or young children.

The drug “Take-Back” initiative will help educate the public of proper medication disposal methods, as well as offer local take-back collection centers for people wanting to get rid of potentially dangerous expired, unused, and unwanted medicines. Collection centers will be facilitated by the Washington area DEA, who will work with state and local police departments throughout the region to help collect and destroy medications.
